TRANSCRIPTS XUÑO 2013

TASK 1: MULTIPLE MATCHING - TOPICS

EXAMPLE 0

Woman: I get up at about ten o'clock and go to the hotels at about eleven. I meet the clients at quarter past eleven and tell them about our parties, and evening events, and sell them tickets for excursions and day trips.

TAPESCRIPT 1

Woman: Nowadays, people email, and they expect an instant response. On the same day, or within an hour or two. We have mobile phones and blackberries, iPhones. So we don't just turn off and relax.

TAPESCRIPT 2

Man: As we go through today, the temperature will slowly rise, and the snow we've had for the last few days will disappear by the end of the afternoon. Tomorrow we can expect some rain...

TAPESCRIPT 3

Woman: At 9.00 o'clock we'll have the first of our new programmes on sport, and today you can see live the final of the international tennis cup. This will be followed by today's news from around the world...

TAPESCRIPT 4

Man: On the way back to London, we have dinner and one night's bed and breakfast in the Indian capital, Delhi. There you can either go sightseeing or go shopping, whichever you prefer.

TAPESCRIPT 5

Woman: I have a tram and bus ticket, but in fact, most of the time I cycle. Travel here is much cheaper than in other countries I know – perhaps that's why people don't walk very much.

TAPESCRIPT 6

Man: So, Saturday. Any ideas?

Woman 1: How about a film?

Man: During the day?

Woman 2: I prefer watching films in the evening really.

Woman 1: OK. Well, why don't we go to the sports centre? We can go swimming.

Man: There are always lots of children in the pool on Saturdays.

Woman 2: And I don't like swimming very much.

TAPESCRIPT 7

Customer: Excuse me. Can you help me?

Shop assistant: Yes madam?

Customer: I bought this jacket yesterday and it doesn't fit.

Shop assistant: Do you want to try a different size?

Customer: No, I'd like a refund.

TAPESCRIPT 8

Woman: From five to about sixteen, but a lot of children in New Zealand go to pre-school classes, you know, kindergartens. I went to a kindergarten when I was four and after a year I went to primary school.

TASK 2: FILL- IN - FIRE PRACTICE

I'd like you to listen very carefully because I have some important information about the fire practice next Monday. I wasn't very pleased with the way the last fire practice went so please make sure you know what to do this time. We are going to have the fire practice in the morning at eleven twenty-five. It'll take about twenty minutes, so you should be back in your classrooms by quarter to twelve.

When you hear the sound of the fire bell, close the windows and go out of the classroom quickly. Leave your bags and coats in the classroom. In a real fire, there isn't time to get these. Everyone should leave the school building by the front door. Let's hope it doesn't rain on Monday! Walk across the car park and then stand together by the library. When you are there your teacher will check your names. You must not run or talk during the fire practice. That's very important. Thank you.

TASK 3: MULTIPLE CHOICE: FRIDA KAHLO

Ravi: OK. In this part of the podcast we ask people a simple question – which famous person, dead or alive would you like to meet? And we ask them to explain why. So let's say hello to this week's guest, Vanessa, from Cambridge.

Tess and Ravi: Hi Vanessa.

Vanessa: Hello. It's great to meet you both.

Tess: It's nice to meet you too. And what do you do Vanessa?

Vanessa: I'm a student. I study law.

Ravi: Law? So you're going to be a lawyer – that's a good job to have.

Vanessa: Well, yes, I hope so.

Tess: Were you born in Cambridge or do you study there?

Vanessa: Both actually. I've lived there all my life, - and now I study there too.

Ravi: So you live at home with your parents right?

Vanessa: No, I live in university accommodation – I think it's better.

Tess: Well, you probably have a lot more fun.

Vanessa: Yes, it's good.

Tess: Now it's time to answer the question. So Vanessa, which famous person, dead or alive would you like to meet?

Vanessa: Frida Kahlo, the painter.

Ravi: OK. I've heard the name – there was a film wasn't there? But I don't know anything about her.

Vanessa: Yeah, It was a good film – with Salma Hayek – she was Frida.

Tess: Yeah, great film. Loved it.

Vanessa: Frida Kahlo was Mexican, she was born at the beginning of the century and she died in the 1950s. When she was nineteen she was in a horrible bus accident. She had terrible injuries – I won't describe them all, but she had to have a lot of operations, and she was in bed for a long time. She liked painting, so her mother bought a mirror and put it over her bed. So she started painting pictures of herself – self portraits. And she never stopped painting after that.

Tess: The pictures are a bit strange though aren't they. I'm not sure I'd like one in my living room.

Vanessa: Well yes ... and no. Some people think that she was a surrealist, like Salvador Dali – that she painted dreams – but that isn't true. She painted her life – all the things that happened to her. And her life was a bit strange – or let's say 'unusual' – so the pictures are 'unusual' too. They're her life – her paintings tell her story. Because of the accident she couldn't have children – and you see that in her pictures too. I love her. Madonna collects her paintings – she once said that she couldn't be friends with anyone who doesn't like Frida Kahlo. She's incredibly famous now – one of her paintings – 'Roots' I think it was – was sold in 2006 for five and a half million dollars.

Ravi: Five and a half million dollars! I wouldn't mind that in my living room.

Vanessa: Well yes – I think Frida would be very surprised too. And try and see the film if you get the chance – it's called "Frida".

Ravi: I will. Thanks a lot for that Vanessa – and good luck with your law course.

Vanessa: It was a pleasure. Thanks a lot.

Tess: Yes, thanks Vanessa. That was great. And don't forget that we'd like to hear from you. Why not write and tell us about who you'd like to meet? You can send your own or you can look at what other people have sent in by checking out our website.
