WHERE DOES FAT GO WHEN YOU LOSE WEIGHT?

Fat loss is a complex process influenced by a number of factors, with diet and physical activity being two of the major ones.

To promote weight loss, you need to consume fewer calories than you burn. This is referred to as a calorie deficit. With a sufficient calorie deficit and proper exercise regimen, fat cells reduce their size over time as their contents are used for energy, leading to improved body composition and health.

It's important to consult your healthcare provider prior to starting your weight loss journey to prevent any potential negative side effects.
