TAREA 1

How to live without social media

Tip 0 – Example

You may find it easier to stop using social media if you delete your social media accounts altogether. Most social media sites allow you to deactivate your account rather than delete it completely in case you want to come back.

Tip 1

Every time you pick up your smartphone or tablet and see a notification from Facebook or Instagram, you are risking temptation. Deleting them makes it easier to stay off social media and pay attention to what matters most to you.

Tip 2

Some people check their social media accounts as soon as they wake up in the morning, during breaks at work or school and while they are falling asleep. Think about when you tend to look at social media, and then find another activity to fill that time.

Tip 3

Write down on a piece of paper both the negative and positive things about social media, for example: I can keep in touch with friends who live far away. Or: I don't get enough sleep because I'm looking at my phone in bed. How will these negative things turn into positive ones if you leave social media?

Tip 4

Having positive experiences with friends will help you stay healthy and happy. Group activity will help you feel less lonely. Make new friends and go to a restaurant, a yoga class, a concert or go on a camping trip with them. There are so many things you can do in person.

Tip 5

If you often check social media when you're bored, you'll need to fill your time with things that keep your mind focused. You can clean, read, study, catch up on homework, or go out. This will help you reduce your need for social media.

Tip 6

When you're spending quality time with someone, ask them to save social media and texting for later. It probably doesn't feel good to have to compete with social media for your friends' attention. Also, hearing about what's happening on Facebook may make you return before you're ready.

TAREA 2

Childhood days

I grew up in a charming little town called Crosby. Now, while small, it was far from boring. I would spend most of my time going out and about exploring and doing thrilling outdoor activities like camping, fishing and boating. Crosby didn't have a museum, but it did have a cinema, a few restaurants, some parks, a public swimming pool, and a lake, not to mention the annual fair we all looked forward to attending every year. I made so many good lifelong friends and memories in that place. Particularly during summer, when I went camping and fishing at the lake.

I was born in a large close-knit family. To this day, we always make a point of meeting up with each other regularly and attend different family events. I have four brothers and sisters, and I am very close to them. We used to have a lot of fun together when we were growing up, making up our own games and telling each other the most bizarre stories. However, we also got into a lot of fights that drove our parents up the wall. We would fight over things like the remote control, who would get to choose the film we would be watching together at night, or simply to get our parents' attention. Nevertheless, despite our differences, we would always be there for each other. In this way, our house was always full of laughter and noise. No wonder my granny referred to it as a zoo!

We lived in a cosy two-storey house. It had a large kitchen, with plenty of room for us to sit and have our meals together. Next to it, downstairs in the living room, there was a fireplace that my parents lit during the snowy winter months to keep our toes from freezing. Upstairs we had four bedrooms and a bathroom. We also had a big back garden, where my parents would organise barbecues to enjoy the good weather brought by the summer along with our neighbours and friends.

I also have very fond memories from my time at school. Particularly my first and last experience performing on a stage in front of an audience. You see, my class was given the job of coming up with a play for our school mates to enjoy. And so what we did, we shared our ideas, developed our characters and practised our lines until they were word-perfect. Another memory that I love is the school trip we took to a nearby farm. We had so much fun learning about the different animals. We even got the chance to feed them! There was only one girl, Lynn, who would not stop complaining and crying because she could not stand the smell. But not even that could ruin our day!

All in all, I am so grateful for having had such a great childhood!

TAREA 3Looking for a new apartment

LANDLORD: Hello?

AMY: Hi, I'd like to speak to the owner of the apartment.

LANDLORD: Yes, it's me. How can I help you?

AMY: I saw your ad online and I'm interested in renting your apartment. I was wondering if you could give me a little more information?

LANDLORD: Sure, what would you like to know?

AMY: Well, first I'd like to know how big the apartment is.

LANDLORD: The apartment is a two bedroom, two bathroom unit. It has a kitchen, and a living room with a small balcony that overlooks the street below.

AMY: Nice.

LANDLORD: The kitchen is small but has enough space for a dining table and chairs. It has a stove, an oven, a fridge, and a sink, and there's also a dishwasher.

AMY: Oh, wow! What about the neighborhood, what is it like? Is it close to downtown? And how about public transport?

LANDLORD: It's not so close to downtown, but the neighborhood is safe and fairly quiet and there's a public school nearby. As for public transport, there's a bus stop right outside the main entrance of the building,

AMY: Great.

LANDLORD: So you can get around the city very easily.

AMY: Mmm... what about supermarkets? Are there any nearby?

LANDLORD: Look, the supermarket is about a 10-minute drive from the apartment. And there's a pharmacy in the neighborhood.

AMY: Oh! That's good! Could I ask how much rent you're looking for? I need to know if the price is within my budget.

LANDLORD: Of course! The rent is 1,000$ per month and it includes water, garbage collection, and one parking space in the garage.

AMY: Cool. That could be useful.

LANDLORD: If you need another space it is available for an extra 150$. Also, you will have to pay a safety deposit of 500$ that will be returned to you at the end of your lease.

AMY: Ok. I understand. Do you have any pictures of the apartment for me to see?

LANDLORD: Yes, I do. If you give me your email address I can send them to you right away.

AMY: Oh great!

LANDLORD: You'll see that the apartment is in a very good condition.

AMY: Ok. It's amy555@hotmail.com. By the way, I have a cat, is that okay?

LANDLORD: Unfortunately, we do not allow pets in the apartment. I'm sorry.

AMY: Oh, well never mind, it's actually my mother's and she wants to keep it anyways.

LANDLORD: Ok, cool.

AMY: Oh, I think I've just received the photos! Let me see....Oh, this apartment is just what I was looking for! Just let me ask you, can I have a roommate? It'll be easier to pay the rent if I do.

LANDLORD: Well, yeah. As I told you the apartment has two bedrooms so we allow two people to share it. Look, it's a really nice place. I actually lived there before we moved into a bigger house and as you can see in the photo the living room is spacious, it has lots of natural light.

AMY: Uh huh, I see.

LANDLORD: It's furnished with a sofa, a coffee table, and a TV. The bedrooms are both a good size. They each have a bed, a dresser, and a desk. And also there's a gym in the building for all the neighbors to use and a laundry room.

AMY: Oh, wow. So when will it be available?

LANDLORD: Well, it's available now. You could move in tomorrow if you wanted to!

AMY: When would it be a good time to come and take a look?

LANDLORD: How about tomorrow afternoon? Around 2 pm, that would be the best time to see it.

AMY: Ok. That sounds great. I'll be there then, at 2 pm. See you then!

LANDLORD: Alrighty, then. See you tomorrow!

AMY: Thanks, bye-bye.

LANDLORD: Bye!
