NORTH CAROLINA

QUESTION	0	1	2	3	4	5	6
ANSWER	B	B	B	C	A	B	B

- Peter: So Sarah, you said you're from North Carolina, and I've never been there before, I have no idea what it's like. Is it in the north of America or tell me more about it, I have no idea?
- Sarah: Well, it's funny because it has north in the name, North Carolina, but (0) it's actually in the south, the southeast. So I usually tell people it's on the opposite end of the US, than California. And it's halfway between New York and Florida.
- Peter: Okay, that puts it on the map for me. Tell me, what's the weather like over there, what's the general climate like?
- Sarah: (1) The weather is very moderate, it gets pretty hot in the summers and pretty cold in the winters. But it depends on where you live, because (2) North Carolina has both the mountains and the ocean as well because it's on the coast. So if you live on the coast side you get more warm temperatures and obviously no snow. But if you live on the mountain side then you get more snow and less hot weather.
- Peter: Okay. Why do people make a distinction between North and South Carolina, I mean what's the history behind that?
- Sarah: I believe it's because (3) they used to all be one together before they were divided. And so when they divided into two states, they call it north now and south.
- Peter: I see.
- Sarah: Yeah.
- Peter: What's North Carolina famous for, I mean what can we look out for?
- Sarah: Probably the most famous thing, that is written on our license plates on the cars is 'First in Flight', (4) because Wilbur and Orville Wright flew the first airplane in Kitty Hawk, North Carolina.
- Peter: Oh wow! Okay, I didn't know that.
- Sarah: Yeah.
- Peter: Amazing!
- Sarah: Yeah, we think it's pretty cool.
- Peter: Is there famous food from that area, anything else that is really quite popular with people in America or outside?
- Sarah: (5) Southern, because it's in the south, southern food is very popular, so southern food, things like fried chicken or a kind of bread we call biscuits, also grits, which is ground corn, all these kinds of foods are very popular in North Carolina because they're southern foods that we eat in the south. Also sweet tea - sweet tea, very popular, iced sweet tea.
- Peter: That sounds good.
- Sarah: Yeah.
- Peter: What goes in it, what?
- Sarah: It's just tea - black tea and sugar and then usually we put lemon in it as well.
- Peter: Okay.
- Sarah: It's really delicious.
- Peter: Growing up in North Carolina and living there, did you ever wish to live anywhere else, or do you think it's one of the best places to live?
- Sarah: When I was growing up there I always thought other places would be better. But then when (6) I went away and lived in many other states and countries I began to see the beautiful things about the area, the country that I come from, so.
- Peter: Right. I guess that's always the way with travelling and somewhere else, you realize home has got many advantages and many beautiful places.
- Sarah: Yes, and people.
- Peter: Okay.
- Sarah: People you love are always home.

EUROVISION

INTERVIEW ANSWER	0	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
INTERVIEW QUESTION	A	E	G	B	K	I	D	C	F

Example. ~~Can you tell us a little bit about Eurovision? What is it?~~

K: Eurovision is basically a music competition that happens every year in May. And countries from all over Europe have an entry in the competition.

A: Right.

K: So big, big music singing competition.

A: And it's Euro...

K: Eurovision, yeah.

A: Okay.

K: Eurovision, and yeah, every single country in Europe send somebody to sing in the competition.

1. Over the Eurovision history, do you have any personal favourite moments?

K: Probably my favorite entry was from ages and ages ago, before I was even born, by an English entry called Bucks Fizz.

A: Okay.

K: They were really awesome. They were singing a great song, and then suddenly, halfway through the song, the boys ripped the girls' skirt off.

A: Oh.

K: Not that way. But they were wearing a long dress and then they were suddenly wearing a skirt. And it was amazing.

2. What was the song like?

K: Eh. The song was okay. No one remembers the song. Everyone remembers the skirts.

3. Did they win?

K: I don't, I don't know. I can't remember. Also, I remember the costumes but not if they won or not.

A: Yeah. Not the song.

K: Isn't that funny?

A: Costumes, too are important.

4. Why do you think Britain never wins? Are their songs always terrible?

K: Well, I mean, I disagree as a British person. I think the songs are always awesome, of course.

A: Okay.

K: But usually, how people win Eurovision is when you want to vote for a country, you have to ring up. And people always vote for the countries that are next door to them.

A: Okay.

K: So countries that are close to them. So the UK really only has Ireland next door.

A: Yeah.

K: So we only really ever get votes from Ireland.

5. Which countries typically manage to get a lot of votes?

K: Countries that are in the middle, that have countries all around them. So like Austria has lots of countries surrounding it. Germany has lots of countries surrounding it. Yeah. England just doesn't have a chance of winning. The UK will never win Eurovision song contest ever again.

A: Unless they change their foreign policy, perhaps.

K: Or unless we just move the entire country in the middle of Europe.

A: Well, that's not going to happen, isn't it?

K: We can dream. We can dream.

6. Is it possible to vote for your own country?

K: No. You can't vote for your own country. You have to vote for any other country except for yours.

A: Oh, I see.

K: Otherwise, Russia would just win it every time. Russia is so big.

7. How does the voting work exactly?

K: When everyone sung their song, they will show you telephone numbers for each country.

A: Okay.

K: And you have to choose the country that you liked the best.

A: Okay.

K: And then you call that number, and that counts as one vote for that country.

A: Right.

K: And then the country that gets the most votes gets 12 points.

A: Okay.

K: And then the next country down gets 10 points and then 8 points, all the way down to 1 point.

A: Okay.

K: But a lot of countries in Eurovision sometimes get 0 points for the entire show.

A: Oh dear.

K: The UK often gets 0 points.

A: Do they?

K: Yes.

A: That's embarrassing, isn't it?

K: Very embarrassing. Very embarrassing.

8. What is the hosting language?

K: Well, they always speak in English. And usually, the host country will also speak in their language. So if it's France, they'll speak in French. If it's Germany, they'll speak in German. But when they are announcing the points, they'll speak in English and French.
