TASK 1

This week in class you have been working on the topic of environment. As part of your homework, you have read about plastic bags and want to inform your classmates about different approaches to the use of plastic bags. Read the text and summarize different alternatives in a paragraph that you will then share with your classmates.

According to a United Nations paper, and several media reports, 69 countries in the world have passed some sort of full or partial ban on plastic bags. While plastic bag bans are especially popular in Africa, a majority of the 32 countries who have opted instead to charge a fee (or tax) to limit plastic bag use are located in Europe.

Three notable exceptions to the trend are France, Austria and Italy, which have banned certain types of thin plastic bags and require them to be replaced with compostable ones - a very popular type of plastic bag ban around the world.

While the severity of plastic bag bans varies from country to country, only some places have an outright ban on all non-compostable plastic bags. Many countries exempt sturdier, easier-to-reuse plastic bags from their bans while simultaneously requiring customers to pay a fee for those bags. Other restrictions that can be part of bans are limits on the production or import of plastic bags.
