OPTION A – There Are More Reasons to Learn a Foreign Language than to Pass Exams

In the last meeting of your school's PTO (Parents & Teachers Association), its members discussed the most common reasons students have to learn a foreign language. Some students do it only because they need a language certificate for study or work purposes, but many have other reasons for learning.

As a foreign language teacher who was present at the meeting, you have decided to write an article for your school magazine. The title will be "There are more reasons to learn a foreign language other than to pass exams."

Write your article including the following:

- Most common reasons students have for learning a foreign language.
- Disadvantages of studying a foreign language with the only purpose of passing exams.
- Other reasons to learn a foreign language.

OPTION B – Overcoming a Challenge Life Threw at Me

In your English class, you have been discussing life as a journey on which we face challenges and difficulties. Some of the challenges many people have faced include passing a school subject that is really difficult, finishing a degree while working, getting a professional or language certification, or getting out of a job or profession you don't enjoy. Your teacher is now asking you to write an essay entitled "Overcoming a Challenge Life Threw at Me."

Write a narrative essay about a challenge you experienced in life and how you handled it. You can choose one of the topics suggested above or decide to write about another challenge you faced. Include the following points:

- The specific challenge you faced.
- How you overcame the difficulties.
- What lesson(s) you learned from the experience.
