HOW TO MAKE FASTER DECISIONS

Patrick McGinnis gives advice on overcoming FOBO (Fear Of a Better Option)

Nowadays, our world includes OVERWHELMING [0] options.

Just to buy a simple object, you have to sort through tons of items, reviews and that is a/an _____ [9] amount of information.

Collecting and preserving a wide variety of options to choose from can be bad, and it seems counter-_____ [10].

Making decisions, you first determine the stakes, which will give you information about your _____ [11] strategy.

With no-stakes and thousands of options, the consequences of choosing one are, basically, _____ [12].

Low-stakes decisions have consequences, although they are not earth-_____ [13].

Along with outsourcing decision-making, you really need some _____ [14] involved.

When the stakes are high and decisions have long-term _____ [15], we need to get the right one.

The nature of FOBO implies that, no matter what you choose, the _____ [16] will be minor.

If you get stuck, you can get help to make the final decision by engaging a group of, ideally, an odd number of people to ensure a _____ [17] tiebreaker.

TASK 3 (8 x 1 mark = 8 marks)

You will hear several people talking. After each extract, write the option that best summarizes what you hear. YOU WILL HEAR THE EXTRACTS JUST ONCE. Extract 0 is an example. Now read the headings.
