MARK

You have just come back from the USA, where you have spent 9 weeks working on a summer camp as a camp counsellor with the organisation Camp America. Camp counsellors spent most of the day with campers (between ages 8-16), supervising sports, arts & crafts and other entertainment activities, mealtimes and waking up/putting to bed.

Apart from being a fantastic cultural experience, Camp America paid for your flight, helped you get settled and trained the staff during the orientation week, provided food and accommodation on camp and gave you some spending money.

Your Camp supervisor would like to find out if the programme met your expectations and if you would be willing to return next year. He has sent you an evaluation form to assess your satisfaction.

MARK

OPTION A

The Community of Madrid is participating in the Education Week taking place in March next year and is calling for proposals on the subject of critical thinking. Defined as the ability to engage in reflective and independent thinking, critical thinking means analysing and questioning assumptions rather than accepting them at face value in order to find solutions both in the workplace and in our personal lives.

Write a proposal suggesting how we can enhance our critical thinking skills in both education and workplace.

OPTION B

Not only does nature provide us with water, air, food, raw materials, entertainment or beauty, but it is also the source of physical and emotional wellbeing. Connected Traveller Magazine has published a feature entitled "Nature can exist without us, but we can't exist without nature." The editor has requested readers to express their view on this subject.

Decide whether you agree or disagree with the quotation and write an opinion article, supporting your arguments with your own experience.
