

DOGS' MESS

STUDENT A

Dog waste left on the street is not only obnoxious and gross – it can also be dangerous, making its way into our water supply if not disposed of correctly.

If owners are ignoring signs, what are some other solutions for handling the problem? Is everyone who leaves his or her pooch's crap lying around just being antisocial? Discuss this topic with your partner. You may use some of the ideas below to help you present your point of view.

- Some dog owners ignore regulations about cleaning up or leashing their dogs.
- There have been cases of poisoned dog food left in parks by angry neighbours.
- What would you suggest to avoid the problem and reach social harmony?

You start the conversation.

DOGS' MESS

STUDENT B

Dog waste left on the street is not only obnoxious and gross – it can also be dangerous, making its way into our water supply if not disposed of correctly.

If owners are ignoring signs, what are some other solutions for handling the problem? Is everyone who leaves his or her pooch's crap lying around just being antisocial? Discuss this topic with your partner. You may use some of the ideas below to help you present your point of view.

- Some dog owners ignore regulations about cleaning up or leashing their dogs.
- There have been cases of poisoned dog food left in parks by angry neighbours.
- What would you suggest to avoid the problem and reach social harmony?

Student A starts the conversation.

SPREADING KINDNESS ONLINE

It's time to say goodbye to meanness, intolerance and haters, and time to say #HelloToKindness. The aim of this movement is to share a kind message, video or caption on Instagram.

Answer the following questions to express your point of view.

- What makes these viral movements arise?
- Do you think that kindness and empathy are more important than shrewdness and cleverness?
- What leads people to write on social networks about what they wouldn't dare to say face to face?